Both the governor and the state's attorney received a smaller percentage of the straws yesterday than they did on Thursday. On Thursday they obtained a proportionately smaller number than on Wednesday, and on Wednesday they were worse off than on Tuesday. They have been slipping and sliding since last Tuesday until they landed yesterday at an unbelievable low point in the esteem of the unusually interesting from several angles. It shows the straws received by both Emmerson and Small from each bundle of ballots received to date, each bundle of ballots received to date, together with the percentages. To indicate one point of interest, it shows Mr. Small with 36.25 per cent of the straws on Tuesday, 22.37 per cent on Wednesday, 16.44 per cent on Thursday, and 12.04 per cent yesterday. Such a summary of the straws on gubernatorial candidates follows:

In favor of the Small-Thompson-Crowe group it must be explained that a larger part of the straws yes-terday and Thursday came from the north side than on previous days. CYSTS AND TUMORS.

sm is benevolent, beneficent, and con-

According to the dictionary, any swelling is a tumor. But you were not asking about tumors as defined in the dictionary. You had in mind the growths which go by the name of tumor.

These are named for the kind of tissue which composes them. Tumors composed of fibrous tissue, therefore, would be called fibroma, the first four letters signifying that the tumor is composed of fibrous tissue, and the last three lettersoms—stand for tumor. You will find that fibrous tissue, and the last three setternoma—stand for tumor. You will find that the names of all tumors end in oma. If, for some reason or other, a mass of new bone forms anywhere in the body it would form a tumor called an osteoma.

The cysts form another group of tumors. They are tumors that have some sort of wall and which contain either fluid material or something bordering on fluidity. There are also several kinds of cysts. The simplest kind is known as the retention cyst. If a duct, down which fluid normally flows, becomes stopped in any way, the fluid accumulates, forming a retention cyst.

As a rule cysts are benign. They get in the way and this causes trouble, but they are not destructive to the tissues they come in contact with.

All of this must be taken in a general way and as simple basic information. Each kind of tumor and each kind of cyst has some features recombined to the life.

S. W. M. writes: Would you give some information relative to the treatment of ecsema? A person past middle age has been troubled with it for many years. Financial misfortune makes this person unable to have proper treatment. In this case, the skin of practically the entire body seems surcharged with the disease. Watery secretions form in the skin, showing in a network of little channels, light colored in some places. Pimples and larger protuberances, often showing much redness, form in many places, from which the watery secretion can be squeezed out easily. Intense itching and burning are felt in these places, especially if rubbed or scratched. At times the skin is as raw as a piece of cut beef. The watery secretion comes out in profusion, dries, and forms crusts under which the secretion collects. Under treatment the rawness, soreness, ftching, and burning se beyond human endurance. All I can say is that you make a mistake in calling the disease ecsema. My thought is that the person can be cured, provided he can find out what the trouble is and go after the cause. Among the more frequent causes of such eruptions are undernourishment, food and other idiosyncrasics, and occupational poisonings. If he can find what is the basic trouble, he will be on the way toward cure.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Chicago, April 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—How soon must a mechanic's lien be placed on property to make good for labor, or is there any specified time? Can a lien be placed on a building that was sold soon after the work was done?

F. M. K.

We do not have sufficient facts before us to justify an absolute answer, and it is not practicable to cover here all the points of law that might be involved. In general, before making payments, an owner should receive from the contractor a statement of amounts due to material, men, and laborers. [Sec. 5.]

A contractor cannot enforce a lien to the prejudice of third persons unless within 4 months of completion he sues to enforce the lien or files with the clerk of the Circuit court a claim of lien for which a printed form can be secured from a stationer. [Sec. 7.] As against the owner, the claim may be filed at any time within 2 years after completion. [Sec. 9.] Subcontractors may be required to give a verified statement of the amount due to them. [Sec. 22.] A subcontractor must within sixty days after completion serve notice for which a printed form can be secured, unless the owner has been given notice by such statement. [Sec. 24.] A subcontractor must file petition to enforce his lien within 4 months after maturity of his claim. [Sec. 23.]

Easter Eggs Were Originated in Roman Times

A SPRING LUNCHEON TABLE

Glittering gold, baby blue and white make this post-Easter luncheon table a delight to the dis criminating eye. The tableware, including the centerpiece and candle holders, is of a gold ware, deli-cately designed yet with a durability which defies the breakage that fine glass usually receives. The blue note is introduced in the spring blossoms and the Venetian dessert compotes.

They have sighted Sir Edmund Gosse, the veteran critic, and their Galsworthy; but as far as I can see only Mr. Kipling or Mr. Shaw would exceute the work itself. The "editor," as Mr. Lewis playfully calls himself, speaks a word so much more to the point about the book than anything that any reader anesthetized by its on-and-on-ness could dig up out of a completely benumbed brain that it seems only fair to quote him. To wit: "There are here omitted, by enof the publishers, two thousand words in which Mr. Lowell Schmaltz explained. The ed tor should have been sterner and made it a round twenty thousand.

Being a woman of vast justice, admit that there were many places in Mr. Schmaltz' story of his visit to his old college chum, Cal Coolidge, that had a glimmer of humor, but the rest of the book took on the colora-tion of the life of the monk of Siberia, which, as you remember, grew "drearier and drearier."

The winner of the second contest, Mateel Howe Farnham's "Rebellion," was not the splashing success that its prede-cessor was, but it brought its author a lot of fame and certainly some of the less fickle fortune.

The third contest is likewise open only to first novels. The manuscripts must be at least 70,000 words in length. The contest closes December 1, 1928. The judges closes December 1, 1928. The judges are composed of the editorial staff of the publishers. The flat sum of $5,000 will be paid, but, unlike the previous contests, no stipulation is made for the motion picture and serials rights. Messrs. The Three-Cornered Hat," by Don Pedro Antonio de Alarcon. [Simos & Schuster.]

To commemorate the tenth anniversary of the termination of the world war the editors of the American Legion Monthly and Houghton Mifflin company jointly are offering a staggering prize for a war novel. The sum is $25,000. And that sum is larger than it sounds, for besides the flat cash prize a royalty of 25 cents a copy will be paid on every copy sold and the motion pleture and dramatic rights will still be the property of the author. A princely prize, indeed.

The contest is open to all writers of the same in true perspective and pro-

The contest is open to all writers of whatever age, mationality, or previous experience in literature, but all manuscripts must be submitted in English.

Not that I have any actual basis for the idea, but I do believe, from the wording of the announcement, that an interpretative rather than a factual novel will be what the judges choose.

350,000 women and men in the United States make their living wholly or partly by crime.

At this moment the country is being attacked by an army of $50,000, who form an invisible foe, hosts of the air, whose stroke is sudden, remorseless and unspeakably cruel.

The common law, which governs all the ordinary affairs of life, must be searched for through 24,000 thick volumes. In spite of all these laws and the unaccountable fortunes spent for the protection of our citizens, 12,000 unshielded inhabitants perished last year at the hands of assassins, 30,000 people were robbed and 32,000 others had their homes or other premises broken into.

There are at least 118,000 crimsonhanded men and women at large.

At one street corner in Chicago known as the "Death Corner" forty - two men have been slain.

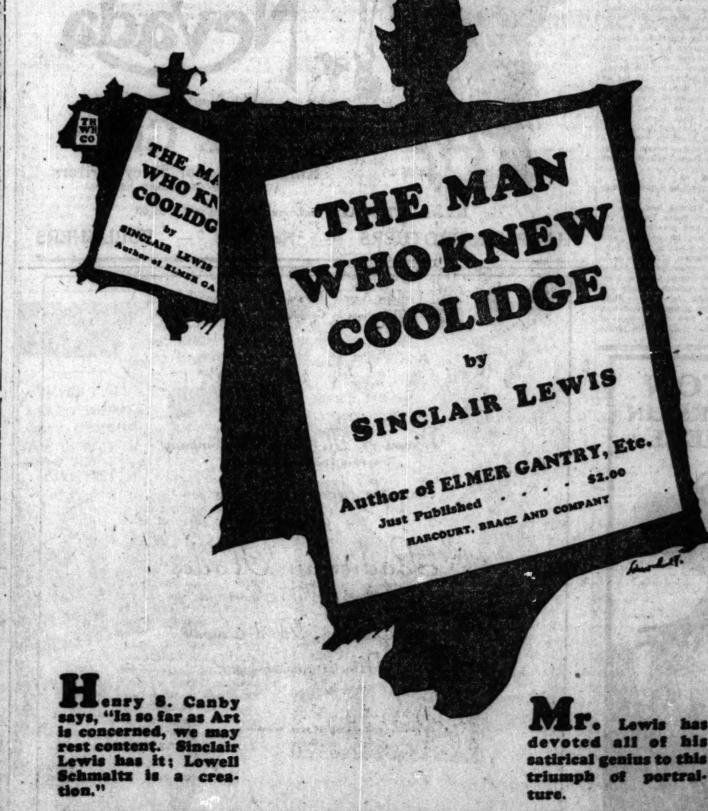

The criminal problem in the United States is costing $500,000,000.00 more each year, than the total cost of all of our educational institutions, and all of our church and charities.

The real angel turns out to be Muhmenkeh, a little old woman of New York's east side, who shares her hovel with Adele when the latter is down and out. Muhmenkeh is drawn with such emotional sincerity and clarity that the reader cannot forget her. Her character shines with a strange and unsarthly radiance.

Churches Are Crowded for Special Services.

More significant, perhaps, than the ulories of the hundreds of ministers conducting Good Friday services over the city yesterday was the solemnity which attended the thousands of Chicagoans as they thronged to mourrithe final agony and death of the Savior on the cross.

Symphony Program. BY EDWARD MOCRE.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Here is a suggestion for a spring-time resolution. From now on, never apologise for Chicago's music. You may even grow boastful over it, be cause you will not be wrong.

Eric DeLamarter conducted his setting of Psaim cxliv, with Barre Hill singing the solo baritone part, and Leo Sowerby played the organ section of his "Medleval Poem" at the Chicago Symphony orchestra concert yesterday afternoon. They satisfied two tests. They were works to approve un reservedly for their own sake, and they stood up to the same stature as the rest of a fully adult Easter music program assembled by Mr. Stock, Rimsky, Korsakoff's "The Russian Easter" overture, Respighi's "Church Windows," a novelty, and the excerpts from the last act of "Parsifal."

Respighi's work, in spite of the sentile restraint implied by its title, turned out to be a gorgeous, highly colored, and stunningly effective piece of musical pageantry. It was the most striking

The Baby insists upon Jack of the furniture, pictures and oting, and helping with the genousework, even to cleaning the one floor in a small three room

When Jack protests his helpless rling reminds him of what other When Jack protests his helpless darling reminds him of what other men do and that his just rewards would be to have a wife who didn't care whether a house was clean or not. The arguments end in tears. And there are tears and more tears until Monday morning brings relief in escape to business. But it's not a complete escape, Jack says, "It almost drives me craxy and I wish I could get away for good, sometimes."

Also, the bride will not let her loved one get away a single evening. He was a member of a popular club, a man's club. But he's been dropped from the roll for non-attendance. He confesses not having one single evening to himself since he married.

ning to himself since he married.

That being no baby Jack has on his hands, she should be spared the pampering. She's a tyrant of the worst kind. And as a tyrant she should be handled. To treat one successfully you have to use about the same methods as in handling a bully. Out-bully them. If you let them get the upper hand, you're doomed.

In that amusing farce, "Baby Mine," an older husband tells a couple of young Benedicks that women have a bag of tricks, a man only one. His is the hat trick. It's simple. Any husband can perform it without rehearsal. You simply lift the hat off the rack and disappear under it until the tears and the rages have blown over. No words. No arguments. Just take the hat and duck out. Stay out late enough to give the little woman a couple of hours of worry. Come cack and you'll find a much chastened wife. It's the only plausible suggestion for coping with those tearstained baby tyrants.

This Frock Speaks of the Newest Mode by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK -[Special Correspond ence.]-Every now and then the designer of clothes seems to have looked at the joints of the stovepipe and thought to himself, "How eminently chic!" Such a source of inspiration is clearly evident in some of the sleeves of today. These sleeves, like those of the above model, revive in us by their pointed effect memories of the old kitchen stove.

They are, however, delightful and orginal sleeves—those of this Champorginal sleeves—those of this Champcommunal afternoon creation — and they do much toward establishing the fact that many a spring model attains cachet entirely through the introduction of unusual sleeves. See how the top sleeve is joined to a lower one developed into funnel shape at the wrist and varied by tiny tucks tied with a bow. Then admit that it is wonderful to have an inventive mind.
Aside from the sleeves, there are other meritorious details connected with this model. Made of beige georgette printed in white, it calls our attention once more to the esteem in attention once more to the esteem in which the polka dot is now held and which the polka dot is now held and it shows you how any polka dotted material may be treated to look absolutely different. First of all, the jumper repeats the same tucks and bows distinguishing the lower sleeve. Next, the skirt, divided into alternate sections of plaited and unplaited material, reminds us that the plaiting is just as good today as it ever was before. A narrow loop of materials hanging from the neck line is the last touch of variety in a model with a high totality in this respect.

Free Silver from Hydrox on the Hydrox Silver Anniversary!

THIS is the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Hydrox. The Silver Anniversary. You patrons of Hydrox have been very generous in your favor. You have made us one of the largest institutions of our kind in the world.

Gifts of silver on a Silver Anniversary are logical, of course. But in this case, there is something more than logic involved. This lovely silver is offered with our most sincere appreciation of your appreciation of our constant effort to give to you the purest and best ice cream that can be made.

Very briefly then, you go to any Hydrox agency, you ask for a Silver Spoon Sundae, price 25c. You eat the Sundae and you take away the spoon. The spoons are genuine Rogers silverware-heavily plated with pure silver on finest nickel silver base, and are guaranteed for ten years. They are in the world famous Oakland pattern. A silver spoon with each Silver Spoon Sundae and as many as you care for in that way.

SILVER

Do You Remember Way Back When: Twenty-five years is a long time when you look forward to it, but not so long when you look back upon it. It seems to most of us who are connected with this great Hydrox organization as though it were only a few years ago at most when the visions of the organizers of this business started them on the march of progress that brought Hydrox up to its present pre-eminent position in the ice cream industry.

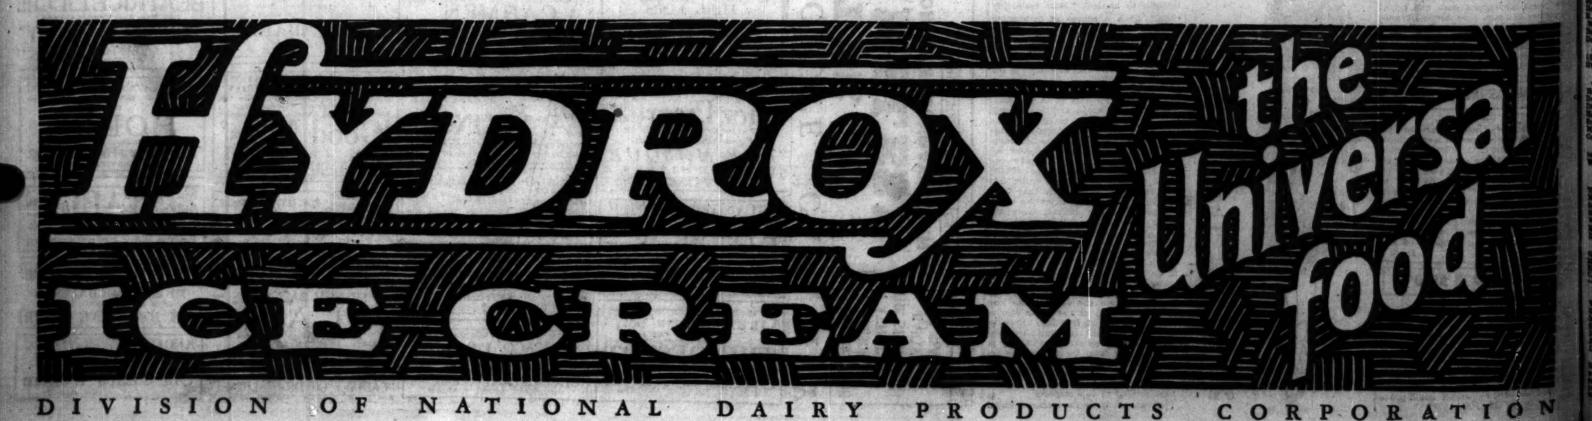

Many of you remember when ice cream was considered a luxury, to be consumed on Holidays, Sundays, etc., and when it was manufactured at home in little hand freezers.

The organizers of Hydrox realized twenty-five years ago that ice cream was destined to be the preferred food of the nation, provided it could be manufactured in large quantities and protected with all of the sanitary safeguards that would be found in your own home. This objective was reached many years ago, and today the consumption of ice cream in the city of Chicago is equal to 31/2 gallons each for every inhabitant (these figures from U. S. Government statistics) and of this tremendous amount, Hydrox alone sells almost one-third. This is a wonderful tribute to the quality of Hydrox Ice Cream, which has made it justly famous not only in Chicago and vicinity but throughout the world and is also a tribute to the vision and integrity of the men behind this organization who are responsible for its progress.

This year of our Silver Anniversary is rather a festive time with us and we want to share it with you in some gracious way. So, through our Hydrox Agencies, we are giving you these genuine Rogers Silver Spoons—one with each Silver Spoon Sundae you buy. Eat the Sundaes and take away the spoons. You may be sure they are good spoons well worth taking, or Hydrox wouldn't offer them.

BY DON MAXWELL.

And the story ended with a line like this: Vienna, Ga., 22; Carr Creek, Ky., 11: Your young heroes of fiction left home with all their earthly possessions wrapped in the folds of a bandana. A year later they came back to the old farm with enough money to save the brindle cow from the auctioneer's hammer.

But they never met up with thos boys from Vienna.

Carr Creek did, and, whether you betion for the sad ending of the Iliad of the kids who came from no place and fought their way to the quarter finals of the big high school basketball tournament which ends tonight at the University of Chicago. Vienna Has Polished Team. Vienna's team has what a good high school five requires. It has five vet-erans, semi-finalists in the tournament of last year. It shows smart ing. The boys have height, courage and ability. And they play a sho passing game, the game that in the long run makes and gets the breaks. The boys from the foothills of the Cumberlands lack height. They depend on long shots. Their offerise revolves about one player, blackhaired Stamper, and the only system they know is get the ball past the middle of the floor and shoot.

Bartlett gymnasium was packed to the roof again last night. The crowd was so one sided in its favoritism that was so one steed in its ravortism that at times its attitude approached poor sportsmanship. Every dribble the mountaineers made was applauded, Every foul that was called on them was booed. Hundreds of newscapers from east to south and west bad on the steed of the s dered reports on the game. Tele calls from Chicagoans eager to the result taxed the capacity of TRIBUNE's trunk lines.

Carr Creek on Map.
Those boys from a settlement school on the banks of the little Carr won t play tonight for the championship of the tournament, but when the ride winds through the hills to the high school of an enrollment of 40; the may feel sure that they've put their home on the map.

Play in the big game began slowly. Vienna was feeling out this straingteam of Kentucky kinsmen. Only one the first quarter. In the second output the first quarter. In the second quar-ter Vienna began to step out. Their ter Vienna began to step out. Their center almost always got the tipon. The taller boys tipped the ball here and there with cleverness. The Crackers broke fast and worked the ball in and under and around the basket for short shots.

Young Madden and Stamper were unable to penetrate the Georgians' zone defense.

David put out Goliath with a siing shot, but David was lucky in his aim. Madden and Stamper, shooting from behind the free throw circle, kept missing baskets by inches. Horne, right forward for Vienna, shooting from beneath and alongside of the basket, was sinking the ball.

And the half ended with the Georgia boys leading, 13 to 3.

Last Half Furious Baffle.

In the last two quarters Carr Greek played with abandon. The lithe little fellows dodged in and out, trying all the tricks they knew and the play was closer. Vienna made only nine pivints in the last half to Carr Creek's eight. in the last half to Carr Creek's eight. Throughout the game Stamper; the best of the Kentucky team, carried the brunt of the fight. On defense he dogged his man like a shadow. On offense his teammates fed him the ball and he tried. He tried so hard the perspiration dripped from his face and his legs grew weary from his journeys up and down the floor.

But in everything Vienna had the edge. They got the ball from the tip off. They recovered it on the rebound from the backboard. And they knew how to bat it and pass it when they had it.

It's mighty hard to beat that kind of a team.

Down in the Cumberland folks call the people from whom the orphan Adams boys and Madden, and Stamper, and Hale come the singing Cars. It is their pleasure to ride down and assemble once a month in the settlement

The real fireworks were crowded into the last quarter when Canton had to fight for the first time in the tour-

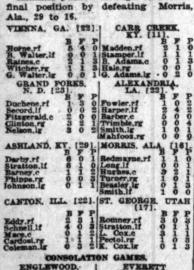

After both sides had added a point on a double foul, Eddy, on a short shot from the side, sent his team into a lead with only a few minutes to go and Canton was able to stall again. L. Cox, Utah center, sank a short shot to the again at 17 all. Then Canton found the break it needed. Coleman was fouled and sank his free throw, and on the next jump, Canton got control of the ball.

For the first time, Dixie lost its head, forgot its five man defense, and began chasing the Canton stallers. And for the first time, Canton opened up its fast breaking game, which resulted in short baskets by Schnell and Eddy in the last minute of play.

Bartley and Sons, London Bootmakers for more than a hundred years, have actually made shoes for the present Prince of Wales, his father, the present King of England and his grandfather, King Edward, and other members of the Royal Family, past and present.

I went direct to Bartley because I thought he should know as well as any man in England the style that the best dressed men in London will wear for Easter, and Bartley made this shoe for me.

I paid three pounds four shillings and twopence ($15.65) for this shoe in London and we have reproduced it in our factory for $6.60. Bartley's original shoe will be put on display in 72 Regal windows, and the Regal Reproduction is now on sale in 72 Regal Stores from Coast to Coast.

Bartley describes this shoe as a Box Calf Oxonian with "Punched and Notched" Toe Cap and a "Middling Substance" Oak Bark Tanned Sole. This simply means it's a Black Calf Oxford with a Tan Bark Medium Weight sole, which is just what we are using in the Regal Reproduction. The lasts are identical in measurement and appearance and the design is the same.

But let me tell you a difference you can't see when you compare the two shoes. Bartley is using practically the same methods today as he did when he was making shoes for Queen Victoria only four men handle the shoe from the time it is cut until it is finished. In our factory about one hundred and fifty different persons perform some operation on a Regal Shoe. BARTLEY AVERAGES THREE PAIRS A DAY—WE MAKE ABOUT THREE THOUSAND A DAY.

This is only one of a series of 40 Regal Reproductions of the most popular styles for street, dress or sport, produced by the most exclusive English and American Bootmakers.

Why Clown Cigarettes are Made by Organized Labor Number Sixteen of a series of statements

The workers make up the vast majority of the people. Combined, . organized, they are an irresistible, overwhelming power. Yet Organized Labor, powerful as it is, relies largely on education of the people to gain the things for which it stands. We respect Organized Labor for this stand. We believe in this principle. Just another reason why Clown Cigarettes are made by Organized Labor.

LONDON, April 6,-The silence of London's observation of lood Friday was rudely broken by an acciting scene at Waterloo station this internoon. Hunfreds of holiday makers who had assembled to welcome lenry Ford, arriving on the Majestic oat train, were astonished to see half dosen bull fiddles, cellos, and a harpichord rolled along the platform, followed by a group of Hungarians who resumably were preparing to sereade the motor king. Serenade Bearded Dignituries.

Serenade Rearded Dignitaries.

Then, to the astonishment of the spectators, a stately group of bearded dignitaries, chattering in a strange tongue, marched stiffly down the platform, but the famous silver hair of the motor king was not among them. A puzzled gasp was followed by a dejected whisper that the subjects of the serenade were not the Ford party, but a Hungarian delegation of fifty statesmen and industrialists, headed by the former Hungarian minister, Joseph Raes, returning from the United States, where they spent a month touring New York and Chicago and other large cities.

When it comes to a second mortgage, people unfortunstely have antiquated does as to "what is what," in the second mortgage business. They more of less resign themselves to the fact that a second mortgage loan will have to be costly, even ruinous, but they pay the rate, nevertheless. BUT TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

Little by little the public is coming to find that there is an institution in the city of Chicago which is making second mortgage loans on a modern and reasonable cost hasis. The Chicago Morris Plan Bank is acting as agent for a very substantial loan fund. Through the use of this fund it has already been demonstrated that second mortgage loans can be made annely and eafely and with a reasonable profit, even though the rate charged is more than 50 % lower than the rate which people were charged even two years ago.
